SALTHILL PARISH NEWS

“CHRIST THE KING PARISH — A FAMILY OF FAMILIES”

“Memorial Service of Remembrance” at 3pm this Sunday

We remember all our family and friends who have gone to God especially those parishioners who have died over the past 12 months. We come in solidarity and support to families. This ceremony will involve reflections, prayers and hymns for about half an hour and afterwards people are invited to plant a Bulb in the front of the Church in remembrance of those who have died.

Parish List of the Dead. You are invited to submit lists of those family and friends who have died whom you wish to pray for during the month of November (the Holy Souls). We will have special prayers at all Masses during the month. Envelopes and blank sheets are available throughout the church.

Big group of new Mass Servers in training. They begin “work” over the next few weeks. Boys and Girls who have made their First Communion are invited to join our excellent team of Altar Servers. Applicants can be from any school or area. All that is required is a willingness to help with ceremonies here in Salthill Church. Huge Thanks to Claire Hynes and her helpers who co-ordinate this ministry for us.

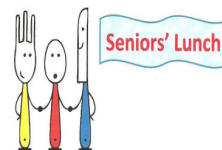

Big Welcome to New Priest in the Parish.

Fr Charlie Sweeney M.S.C. has been appointed by the Bishop as priest to work as curate in Salthill Parish. We are absolutely delighted to formally welcome Fr Charlie to be part of our team. Fr. I was thinking !!

Dear Fellow Traveller,

It is Samhain – “summer’s end” – and it is time to honour and remember our ancestors. We have no tomb-shrines, but we can visit the cemeteries where our beloved dead are buried. If they’re not near, we can still set up shrines to honour them in our homes. We set up pictures and other mementos, light candles, play their favourite music, prepare their favourite foods and offer their favourite drinks. We set a place for them at the dinner table.

Most importantly, we call their names aloud. We tell their stories, both our memories of them and the stories they liked to tell about themselves. We speak to them. Can they hear? I like to think so, but ultimately whether they can or can’t isn’t important.

What’s important is that we remember them and honour them, and that we strengthen the relationship that death has irreversibly changed but has not ended. We honour our beloved dead: the parents and grandparents, aunts and uncles, teachers and mentors we knew in this life. But we also honour those ancestors we never knew, those who died before we were born. Our only connection may be an antique photograph or a name and a few dates in a genealogical record, but they are part of our heritage and without them we would not be.

We call their names and tell them ours. We let them know we are here, and through us they live on in this world. We honour our distant ancestors, the many-great grandparents who lived so long ago their names are lost to us. We all have ancestors who survived famine, plagues, and war. We have ancestors who survived the last great ice age. And we have ancestors older still.

As we celebrate the season of Samhain, we know that some day we will join the ancestors. It will fall to those who remain in this world to sustain the relationships that death has altered but cannot end. May they follow the example we set, and until then may we live our lives so as to be worthy of their honour and remembrance.
