Sacred Heart June is the month dedicated to the Sacred Heart, and our 'Sacred Heart' altar brings to our attention the importance of this feast. Ritual and symbols open our hearts and minds in a profound way to God.

Today is Trinity Sunday where we celebrate the Holy Trinity - the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit who will remain with us, leading us to know more of the Truth.

Sunday 23rd is the feast of Corpus Christi, the feast of the Blessed Eucharist - God becomes present in our lives at Mass in a very special way at Holy Communion.

I was thinking !

Dear Fellow Traveller,

As the future leaders of society finish up their state exams they can take courage from a tweet I found on my phone this week. It is a story of success in business without success in Leaving Cert exams. In the tweet one of the owners of a company called "The Dough Brothers" - (a very successful food outlet which serve pizza etc at markets and parties up and down the country), points out that he did bad in his Leaving cert 16years ago. He now runs a business that is held up as a model of a successful modern Irish business so much so that there was a question about the company on the Leaving Cert Business Studies exam paper this week !

Exams don't define us - they are by in large simply a test of memory. We are all created for a purpose and we are not out there on your own. There is good stuff in us - we need to get on with it, take one day at a time and not put off until tomorrow what we can do today !

This Sunday is Father's Day and we each remember our own (both living and dead). I print below a synopsis of a letter in the Cork Examiner which while applying to a particular family, expresses stuff about an individual's Dad that may spring a cord with you. We all probably have different circumstances and every family is different but we have only one Dad !

Dear Dad aka Mick,

You will be thrilled to note that this is not a letter looking for money like the one I sent from Vancouver aged 19. I just wanted to let you know that I love you. Sometimes I'm jealous you're even more quick-witted than me, but everyone says I get my dark sense of humour from you, so thanks.

You're a hardworking man who absolutely loves his two daughters (and Manchester United !). I don't know which you love more but I don't think myself and my sister, Alex, break your heart as much as Man U do.

I think I surprised you as a kid when I loved playing sports and wouldn't let a dress anywhere near me.

You've been there for some of the biggest moments of my life. I came out when I was 25 and all I can say is 'thank you'. Thank you for being so supportive . You didn't even bat an eyelid and showed me support from the moment I told you. I know there is much about me you don't understand and we don't even vote for the same political party !. I think back to the times you got out of bed at 3am to collect me from the nightclub'

Thank you for being there, making me laugh, always seeing the positive side and being so proud of me.

- Love Cass x
